To Whom It May Concern:

I'm here representing my local community such as:

- real estate agents
- tractor dealerships
- service stations
- farm supply store
- feed store
- hay farmer
- straw farmer
- ferrier for shoes
- local vet
- truck dealers
- trailer dealers
- gas stations

When we ride, we leave no trash, no surveyor ribbons, no beer cans; we cut no limbs or trees; we make no loud noises; we don't ride during deer hunting season; we do far less damage than the tree cutter's and their logging equipment. We are the eye's and ear's when riding the out back with our horses. Why, then, do you want to deny a good user group access to the beauty of our state when they have spent so much money locally?

What's the state's return on walking shoes and bikes that they dedicate so much black top trails to individuals?
